This module links to NC4202 Placement 1.1, enabling students to reflect on their practice. 3. Aims of the module
Communication is a fundamental skill for any early years practitioner, but especially those working in a home environment. In this module, students will examine and practise good communication in preparation for placement, with a focus on ensuring professional communication online, on the telephone and face to face. Students will also explore how to find and access work safely, the necessary processes they should follow in order to maintain professional boundaries, and what steps they can take if challenges arise.
